I. INTRODUCTION

Nachawati Law Group (“NLG”) Plaintiffs submit this Response in Opposition to Defendants Uber Technologies, Inc., Rasier, LLC, and Rasier-CA, LLC’s (collectively referred to as “Defendants” or “Uber”) Motion to Dismiss Cases for Failure to Comply with PTO 5 (ECF No. 4027). Uber wrongly presents this issue as one of refusal by the clients to produce a bona fide receipt or an information sheet regarding the trip giving rise to their claims, as if they were unwilling to comply with the Court’s Orders. However, this is not the case. The clients are not unwilling; Plaintiff Fact Sheets have been uploaded and served; our firm has been recently unsuccessful in obtaining current contact information in order to reach them to obtain a bona fide receipt or required ride information. Our firm is, and has been, employing all of the resources available to us outside of the original contact information in an effort to obtain the necessary information. For these reasons, and for the reasons set forth below, Plaintiffs’ counsel respectfully request that this Court deny Defendants’ Motion as moot as to Plaintiffs Jane Doe NLG (N.K.) and Jane Doe NLG (B.D.), as ride receipts were produced<sup>1</sup>, and allow additional time for counsel to reach or re-connect with Plaintiff Jane Doe NLG (M.E.) to obtain a bona fide receipt or required ride information.

First, only one NLG Plaintiff is at issue here.<sup>2</sup> (Declaration of Steven S. Schulte, at ¶ 4.) As is true in the majority of cases in this litigation, this Plaintiff was assaulted, retained our firm, and filed her case some time ago. We have been engaged to represent this Plaintiff, were provided with information about her case and contact information but have lost communication or have been unable to reach the Plaintiff, despite our best efforts. These efforts include numerous phone calls, emails, texts, written letters, and address searches. (Schulte Decl., at ¶ 3.) Simply put, while we have made every effort to reach this Plaintiff to obtain a bona fide receipt or required ride

1 information, we have not received any indication that this client is actually aware that she has
2 failed to comply with the Court's Orders. What we do know is that our process of reestablishing
3 contact and communication with clients has been effective in many instances, and it is clear that 4 these Plaintiffs are resurfacing over time and through the different contact methods we are using.

5
6 Unfortunately, as the Court is aware, a plaintiff may become unavailable for various
7 reasons as litigation progresses. Counsel has utilized extensive efforts to reach this Plaintiff,
8 predating and since the filing of Defendants' Motion. Counsel will continue these efforts and will 9 provide the missing ride receipt or required ride information for this Plaintiff immediately upon 10 receipt. Plaintiffs' counsel respectfully request that this Court deny Defendants' Motion as to 11 these Plaintiffs, due to the issue being moot, and to allow additional time for counsel to reach or 12 re-connect with Plaintiff Jane Doe NLG (M.E.) and obtain the ride receipt or required ride
13 information. This relief is particularly warranted in light of Defendants' failure to meet and confer
14 as noted below.

15
16 Second, Uber's Motion unreasonably prejudices Plaintiffs. Uber did not meet and confer
17 regarding this issue for a subset of these clients. Had Uber done so, the parties could have 18 potentially come up with a process consistent with the Court's prior orders on this same issue.
19 Consequently, these legitimate claims are at risk of dismissal, sometimes with a permanent effect
20 in light of limitations, on the sole basis of their counsel's inability to reach them. Local Rule 37-
21 1 requires counsel to meet and confer in good faith before bringing a discovery motion. Civil L.R.
22 37-1. Defendants' counsel failed to meet and confer with counsel for NLG Plaintiffs about their 23 alleged failure to comply with PTO 5 before filing this Motion to Dismiss, contrary to this Court's 24 Local Rules. This failure independently warrants denial of Defendants' Motion as to these 25 Plaintiffs.
26
27
28

1 Third, Uber’s Motion ignores the current procedural posture and direction of the litigation.
2 Uber also fails to specifically address how the failure of this Plaintiff to submit a ride receipt or 3 required ride information at this point in the litigation actually causes harm. Currently, the 4 bellwethers have already been selected, and no NLG case has been selected as a bellwether. The 5 current case management deadlines will be focused on the bellwether cases and the corporate 6 discovery.
7

8 Furthermore, for Plaintiff Jane Doe NLG (M.E.), Uber is not operating in the dark. Indeed,
9 Uber and Plaintiffs’ counsel are on a level playing field. NLG has already disclosed the following
10 information pertinent to the case to Uber prior to the filing of Uber’s Motion: background
11 information, city of incident, date of incident, whether the client reported the assault to Uber,
12 whether the client reported the assault to the police, whether the client sought medical treatment
13 after the assault, and whether the client sought therapy. This information helps to mitigate any 14 prejudice Uber faces.
15

16 Therefore, Plaintiffs respectfully request that the Court deny Uber’s Motion, and that the 17 Court implement less drastic remedies that are available, and that the Court allow Plaintiffs’
18 counsel additional time to reestablish communication to obtain a bona fide receipt or required
19 ride information for submission, where applicable as here.
20

21 II. ARGUMENT

22 Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 41(b) allows a court to dismiss a claim for failure to 23 prosecute or comply with a court order, “dismissal, however, is so harsh a penalty it should be 24 imposed as a sanction only in extreme cases.” Thompson v. Hous. Auth. of City of Los Angeles, 25 782 F.2d 829, 831 (9th Cir. 1986) (citing Henderson v. Duncan, 779 F.2d 1421, 1423 (9th Cir.
26 1986)). Involuntary dismissal under FRCP 41(b) is a “drastic remedy which by its nature cannot 27 be appropriately applied to every case of failure to comply with an order of the Court.” Industrial 28

1 Bldg. Materials v. Interchemical Corp., 278 F.Supp. 938, 949 (C.D. Cal. 1967). Additionally,
 2 dismissal is appropriate under Fed. R. Civ. P. 37 for violation of a discovery order “only where 3 the failure to comply is due to willfulness, bad faith, or fault of the parties,” Wyle v. R.J. Reynolds
 4 Industries, Inc., 709 F.2d 585, 589 (9th Cir.1983), and “where lesser sanctions are considered by 5 the district court to be inadequate.” N. Am. Watch Corp. v. Princess Ermine Jewels, 786 F.2d
 6 1447, 1451 (9th Cir. 1986). “The sanctions of dismissal or default, however, are generally 7 reserved for those extreme circumstances where deception is willful, in bad faith, or relates to 8 matters in controversy that interfere with rightful decisions of a case.” Id.

10 In analyzing whether involuntary dismissal under FRCP 41(b) is warranted in any 11 particular case, the Court must weigh the following five factors: “(1) the public’s interest in 12 expeditious resolution of litigation; (2) the court’s need to manage its docket; (3) the risk of 13 prejudice to the defendants; (4) the public policy favoring disposition of cases on their merits;
 14 and (5) the availability of less drastic sanctions.” Malone v. U.S. Postal Serv., 833 F.2d 128, 130
 15 (9th Cir. 1987) (quoting Thompson v. Hous. Auth. of City of Los Angeles, 782 F.2d 829 (1986)).
 16 Each of these factors weigh against dismissal because of the posture of the litigation, the nature
 17 of the cases, and the unique positioning of these Plaintiffs.

19
 20 A. The First and Second Malone Factors: The Public’s Interest in Expeditious
 21 Resolution of the Litigation and the Court’s Need to Manage its Docket Weigh 22 Against Dismissal with Prejudice.

23 With respect to the first Malone factor, the district court has discretion to determine what 24 is an unreasonable delay in the expeditious resolution of the litigation because “it is in the best
 25 position to determine what period of delay can be endured before its docket becomes 26 unmanageable.” In re Eisen, 31 F.3d 1447, 1452 (9th Cir. 1994). The second Malone factor “is 27 usually reviewed in conjunction with the public’s interest in expeditious resolution of litigation
 28

1 to determine if there is unreasonable delay...[the district court] knows when its docket may
2 become unmanageable.” Id. at 1453.

3 NLG has already decreased the number of Plaintiffs with missing information and/or 4 documents in a majority of cases that this issue has been raised. A Plaintiff’s delayed submission
5 of a bona fide receipt or required ride information does not unreasonably impede the resolution
6 of the litigation. This Plaintiff constitutes less than 1 percent of the total MDL. And bellwethers
7 have already been selected. The production of these items and/or information will not have a
8 substantial impact on the timeline of the bellwether cases set for trial. Those trial deadlines will 9 be driven by case specific discovery in the bellwether cases as well as the overall corporate 10 discovery.
11

12 Also, the unique posture of these Plaintiffs also highlights that a dismissal of their cases
13 would be unreasonable at this juncture. Unlike the other unfilled cases that could be filed into the 14 MDL, these cases were subject to a filing deadline which subsequently triggered all deadlines
15 relating to the bona fide receipt or required ride information. In effect, these legitimate claims,
16 which often involve young women who are mobile, are now at risk for dismissal, possibly with a
17 permanent effect in light of limitations, on the sole basis of counsel’s current inability to reach
18 them. While Uber is entitled to a bona fide receipt or required ride information, noncompliance
19 at this point does not cause an unreasonable delay in the resolution of the MDL overall. See contra
20 In re Eisen, 31 F.3d 1451-52 (“the bankruptcy court found that Moneymaker had taken no action
21 to prosecute in four years...the four-year delay in this case is clearly unreasonable.”) Therefore,
22 the first two factors weigh against dismissal.
23
24
25
26
27
28

B. The Third Malone Factor: The Risk of Prejudice to Defendants Weighs Against Dismissal with Prejudice

“In determining whether a defendant has been prejudiced, we examine whether the plaintiff’s actions impair the defendant’s ability to go to trial or threaten to interfere with the rightful decision of the case.” Malone v. U.S. Postal Serv., 833 F.2d 128, 131 (9th Cir. 1987).

Plaintiff’s actions do not impair Uber’s ability to go to trial because the only further case-specific discovery that will take place is in those cases set for bellwether trials. Uber’s reliance on In re Phenylpropanolamine (PPA) Product Liability Litigation (hereinafter “PPA”) is misplaced because the underlying facts of the claims and discovery process are inconsistent with this case. 460 F. 3d 1217, 1223 (9th Cir., 2006). In PPA, the discovery timeline was triggered by the submission of the Plaintiff Fact Sheet: Defendants could not take case-specific fact depositions sooner than 120 days after the Plaintiff Fact Sheet was submitted, and the one-year discovery period for completion of discovery would also not start until a Plaintiff Fact Sheet was submitted. Id. at 1224. By contrast, here, the case specific discovery process is rooted in the bellwether cases rather than each individual claim. The bellwethers have already been selected and the cases remaining in the litigation are in fact discovery.

While Uber may argue that without the bona fide receipt or required ride information it is unable to assess the entire litigation, Plaintiffs have also mitigated this risk. Our firm provided pertinent case information for each Plaintiff, including substantially completed Plaintiff Fact Sheets, while we endeavor to continue to reach this client and provide a bona fide receipt or ride information sheet, as soon as we are able. As such, these cases pose no greater risk to Uber than any unfiled case. Indeed, the prejudice to these sexual assault survivors, some of whom who were the only ones subject to a filing cut-off, is far greater. Therefore, the third factor weighs against dismissal.

C. The Fourth Malone Factor: The Public Policy Favoring Disposition of Cases on the Merits Weighs Against Dismissal with Prejudice.

At a general level, the “‘public policy favoring disposition of cases on their merits’—the fourth Malone factor—always weighs against a default judgment, and often ‘strongly’ so.” Transamerica Life Ins. Co. v. Arutyunyan, 93 F.4th 1136, 1147 (9th Cir. 2024) (quoting Hernandez v. City of El Monte, 138 F.3d 393, 399 (9th Cir. 1998)). “By definition, a default judgment does not promote the public policy of resolving lawsuits in their merits.” Smith v. Humboldt Cnty. Sheriff’s Off. Corr. Facility, No. 24-CV-01035-PHK, 2025 WL 41926, at *5 (N.D. Cal. Jan. 7, 2025). As such, this factor weighs against dismissal.

D. The Fifth Malone Factor: The Availability of Less Drastic Sanctions Weighs Against Dismissal with Prejudice.

“The district court abuses its discretion if it imposes a sanction of dismissal without first considering the impact of the sanction and the adequacy of less drastic sanctions.” Malone, 833 F.2d at 131.

Our case law reveals that the following factors are of particular relevance in determining whether a district court has considered alternatives to dismissal: (1) Did the court explicitly discuss the feasibility of less drastic sanctions and explain why alternative sanctions would be inadequate? (2) Did the court implement alternative methods of sanctioning or curing the malfeasance before ordering dismissal? (3) Did the court warn the plaintiff of the possibility of dismissal before actually ordering dismissal?

These factors as well as the pretrial orders and processes in other multi-district litigations weigh against a dismissal with prejudice. “Before dismissing an action, a court should always be certain that other less drastic alternatives are not available.” Eldridge v. Block, 832 F.2d 1132, 1137 (9th Cir. 1987).

This particular issue can be resolved by less drastic measures. Plaintiffs’ proposed measures, including an allowance for additional time to reach this Plaintiff, as discussed above,

1 take a more holistic approach to the needs of litigation and the rights of each Plaintiff to have
2 their day in court.

3 By contrast, Uber's proposed dismissal process is particularly punitive in light of the 4 nature of Plaintiff's claims, which all stem from the sexual assault or sexual misconduct by an 5 Uber driver, and this Court's prior Order. There are many reasons why these victims of sexual 6 assault could be unresponsive. These cases often involve young women who are mobile—changes
7 in address name, phone number, etc. are all real human reasons why their initial contact
8 information is no longer valid. But, our methods of locating these Plaintiffs are seemingly 9 working in time.
10

11 III. CONCLUSION

12 The Court should deny Uber's Motion because less drastic measures are available to the 13 Court and should be implemented rather than a dismissal. Plaintiffs respectfully request that the 14 Court deny Defendants' Motion to Dismiss.
